Fifth Grade's Free Little Libraries

Our first 5th Grade service learning project is complete! Our students were every part of orchestrating this project of providing both playgrounds with free little libraries: from designing and decorating advertising posters for the halls, to writing, rehearsing, and presenting the project to all of the lower school classes! With the help of Mr. Brandon Burgess, they each had a hand in building the free little libraries & over the month of September, they then helped take in and track the donations given by lower school students. Today, we were finally able to start filling our libraries full of good books for the students of JMA to enjoy on both playgrounds!
